

Marketing Internship

Do you identify yourself as creative, adaptive, and fully involved in everything that you do? Do you thrive in multitasking environment? Are you fast learner?

We are looking for a student with a “can-do” attitude, with a background in Communications, Marketing and Digital/Interactive Media.

We are also expecting these internship students to be self-motivating, curious and brave. We are exploring new possibilities in a highly dynamic area.

We are “Reaktorius”, MB - a company that creates and deploys high-end app solutions for every platform, screen and form factor from mobiles, web sites, set-top boxes and media players to game consoles and smart TVs by utilizing react and react native technology.

Our goal is to allow our clients to build complex software solutions at the fraction of time required by conventional development approach.

Want to learn more then come and see us @reactseals.com

Responsibilities

- You'll gain firsthand experience in crafting social media posts, maintain conversation, interaction, communication and relationships with partners locally and globally.
- You'll pull social media statistics for reports.
- You'll assist with carrying out social media campaigns.
- You'll research what's going on in the social world related to our niche and target audiences and discuss ideas with our team.
- You'll create a competitor analysis and reporting on the market insights.
- You'll be creating the content in the public channels.
- You'll assist with various digital projects as needed.

For more information and application

internships@reactseals.com

